

MARK KĀWIKĀ MCKEAGUE

AICP
Director of Cultural Planning

Mr. McKeague's background, experience, and passion provides a unique and knowledgeable approach to land use planning and cultural resource management. Mr. McKeague effectively administers and advocates a Native Hawaiian perspective in environmental and land use planning, and architectural design and space programming. As the Senior Cultural Resource Manager for Kamehameha Schools, he was responsible for the stewardship of cultural resources for 360,000 acres. Mr. McKeague brings 15 years of experience in facilitating local and national level planning efforts for private, public, and non-profit sector clients. His work includes the preparation of Master Plans, Cultural Resource Management Programs, Environmental Impact Studies, and facilitating community dialogue.
