

Alexandra Bennicas, B.A.

Project Director

Education:

2017 B.A. – Anthropology, Archaeology, University of Hawai'i at Mānoa,

2014 A.A. – General Studies, Outdoor Education, Colorado Mountain College, Breckenridge

Qualifications:

Ms. Bennicas has been with CSH since May, 2017. Her attention to detail and keen understanding of compliance requirements coupled with an ability to manage workflow, project logistics, and fellow staff led to several promotions – first to supervisor in May of 2021 and then to Project Director in February of 2022. Ms. Bennicas is proficient in the Hawai'i's §6E historic preservation compliance process. Ms. Bennicas contributes the following assets to CSH:

- Experience conducting, developing research plans for, and leading archaeological projects in Hawai'i including inventory surveys and data recovery programs
- Extensive experience conducting archaeological monitoring of construction activities and now provides oversight of CSH monitors on urban Honolulu projects
- Experienced in interpreting sediments common to urban Honolulu projects
- Regularly coordinates with clients, construction companies, subcontractors, project stakeholders, and the State Historic Preservation Division
- Lead author of archaeological reports that comply with applicable regulations
- Experienced in all forms of archaeological fieldwork, including various methods of mapping and documentation (total station, GPS, plane table, profile, plan view mapping, etc.)
- Practiced in lab techniques such as photography, digitizing documents, cataloguing, and general lab and archival tasks; familiar with lithic and ceramic analyses
- Serves as CSH Project Director for the majority of CSH's ongoing work in support of the Victoria Ward/Howard Hughes Corporation's redevelopment of over 60 acres in Kaka'ako, Honolulu, O'ahu

Special Training, Honors, and Certifications:

- Recipient of National Science Foundation Research Experience for Undergraduates research stipend, Upper Gila Preservation Archaeology 2016
