III. FOR INFORMATION & DISCUSSION

Informational Presentation by the Principals of Kaze Power, formerly known as Kanoa Winds, Regarding the Key Performance Metrics of the Vertical Axis Wind Turbine Installed at the Kalaeloa Heritage Park, located at 91-1940 Coral Sea Road in Kapolei, and Further Described by Oahu Tax Map Key No. 9-1-013:069, in the Kalaeloa community development district.

Mr. Robert Cundiff and Mr. Jason Ho‘opai, of Kaze Power, presented the slide deck provided in the board packet. Mr. Cundiff provided a general timeline of their efforts, which included seeking HCDA approval in 2024 for right-of-entries to install VCCT turbines in Kaka‘ako and Kalaeloa, shipment and site selection process, the installation process in early 2025, and its current operational phase. He explained the general features of the model installed in Kalaeloa, noting that it is one of their smaller units but is capable of providing charging power for maintenance equipment and tools used by Kalaeloa Heritage Foundation. Mr. Ho‘opai added that the installation in this area provided a good opportunity to test the equipment in a rural environment near the airport.

Member Evans asked about the technology’s capabilities with alternating power and its ability to manage volatility in wind speed.

Mr. Ho‘opai answered that the system is capable of creating alternating power, as it is designed to balance solar and wind power into a single control unit, and has outlets to provide direct access to the converted AC power. He affirmed that the system can balance the fluctuating wind power and the stable solar power. Mr. Cundiff added that the unit is capable of operating in high, hurricane-like winds.

Member Evans asked if Kaze Power intends to partner with HECO to do a larger installation.

Mr. Cundiff affirmed that Kaze Power would welcome that opportunity.

Secretary Lidstone asked if Kaze Power intends to install more units within Kalaeloa, and what the process would be for interested organizations.

Mr. Ho‘opai affirmed that Kaze Power would welcome that opportunity, given that Kalaeloa has difficulty in accessing reliable power. He answered that they have received interest from various power projects, and have begun evaluating how the system would operate on individual property, commercial private property, and public property. Mr. Cundiff added that the partnership with HCDA allowed Kaze Power to observe how the system would function in both an urban environment and a rural environment.

Member Streitz asked if the data collected from the Kaka‘ako installation differed from the data collected from the Kalaeloa installation, given their differing environments.

Mr. Ho‘opai answered that the data was similar between the two sites, with the Kalaeloa installation observing more gusts of wind. He noted that Kaze Power is focused on the data collected in Kaka‘ako, as it has an updated design to generate a significantly larger amount of energy. He added that wildlife impacts are near-zero in both systems.

There were no further comments or questions from the Board.
